

WatchGuard Certified Training

New Locations Announced

February 6, 2009

Today, JStengel Consulting Announced upcoming WatchGuard training classes in two exciting new locations in the USA. In response to growing demand for the world's best and most secure firewall solution we will be offering classes in Anchorage, AK and Hawaii. We believe that students will greatly benefit from training in these underserved markets. JSC already helps clients in all states and this is a mere addition to our portfolio of services. Specific class dates will be announced in the coming weeks. Updates can be found at www.jstengel.net/training.htm, by calling our main training office at 704-464-3868 or sending us an email to info@jstengel.net.

JStengel Consulting is a WatchGuard Certified Training Provider and WatchGuard Partner. We have assisted clients throughout the country deploying network security products to protect and defend from threats. Our classes are all hands on labs that give students an unparalleled learning experience. We consistently get rave reviews from all who attend.

Thank you for reading this and we hope you will join us for an upcoming class. Check our website for the latest training specials as well as other locations we will be adding this year.
