

JStengel Consulting Announces Remote Backup Service

May 10, 2010

Today we are pleased to announce our remote backup service. We have worked over the last few months to develop and roll out a secure, low cost, reliable, and tested remote backup service.

This new remote backup service offers companies a great way to automatically send data to a secure remote facility. The data can include any file, Exchange data, and SQL data. All data is sent over a secure channel at fast speeds.

We can tailor this solution to meet any clients' needs. As with all of our solutions this can scale to small amounts of data to terabytes worth of information.

We are offering clients a free 14 day trial run. The trial is unlimited and can be fully tested on your network.
